AP7004 Community Rehabilitation: Healthy Ageing Short Course

Level 7 (postgraduate) 15 credits | Course fee £900

Course Overview

This short course/ module will enable the learner to explore rehabilitation theories, and interventions offered for populations to encourage their healthy ageing. The learner will develop critical skills to enhance their own rehabilitation practice and enable a self-managed approach to their clinical practice. The module will be relevant to learners working in hospital and home teams, urgent community response teams, as well as frailty services, community nursing and therapy teams, and bed based reablement and rehabilitation.

This module is taught at Level 7 (postgraduate) level which required students to engage as independent, critical thinkers. It carries 15 academic credits, which represents a total of 150 hours of effort. In addition to the taught sessions, the learners will be required to undertake self-directed study, including reading, research and work-based quality improvement (QI) project. Learners will need to pass the assessment task to be awarded the Level 7 credits.
